Second Sunday of Easter

Sunday School Lesson

This morning we took time to appreciate the beautiful weather we experienced this weekend and talked about rebirth. Still in the season of Easter, and (finally) getting a taste of spring weather inspired conversation of how we experience rebirth in our lives. While none of us have died and resurrected the way Jesus did for us, we can still experience rebirth in our lives in the seasons, especially spring. Today for our craft, we made caterpillars and butterflies out of pipe cleaners, construction paper, glue and pompoms, as a great example of rebirth! From caterpillar to cocoon to butterfly, these insects are a great metaphor for the Easter story!
